Additional Recommendations:

- Some of the larger chains carry a generic brand of formula under their own label. Talk with your pediatrician if you have questions if the formula can substitute for your current brand.
- Look online for formula at stores like Amazon, Walmart, Target or others. It is important to ensure that the website is a reputable source to buy from.
- Reach out directly to the manufacturers or their websites to check stock or order if available.
- Pediatricians recommend using store bought baby formula. Homemade formula could be harmful and likely does not have the necessary nutrients your baby needs.
